PATHOLOGY AND IMAGING IN THE EVALUATION OF GASTROINTESTINAL DISEASE COURSE

Friday, October 5, 2018 | 7:00 am - 12:30 pm | Terrace Ballroom 2-3

Course Directors: David A. Greenwald, MD, FACG, and Olga C. Aroniadis, MD, MSc

COURSE DESCRIPTION

ACG's Pathology and Imaging in the Evaluation of Gastrointestinal Disease Course includes four mini-sessions, each devoted to new developments and old problems of special interest to the clinical gastroenterologist in pathology and imaging in a specific portion of the GI tract. A popular biennial offering of the College, this year's course expands the mini-session concept to include a combination lecture by a pathologist and a radiologist with the addition of correlated endoscopic images. The course faculty are recognized experts in their fields and pioneers in the development of new technologies and clinical paradigms.

The course is designed primarily for clinicians in GI/hepatology, as well as physician assistants, nurse practitioners, and other advanced practice healthcare professionals interested in the clinical application of GI pathology and imaging. Register for the course separately or as part of the Three-Day Clinical Review (see page 24).

Professor, Department of Diagnostic Radiology, The University of Texas MD Anderson Cancer Center, Houston, TX

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

At the conclusion of this course, participants should be able to:

- ✓ Describe current concepts relevant to radiology and pathology in the evaluation and treatment of patients with gastrointestinal disease.
- ✓ Evaluate findings of radiologic exams related to gastrointestinal disorders of the esophagus, stomach, small bowel, large intestine, liver, gallbladder, and pancreas.
- ✓ Identify both basic and advanced pathology findings in patients with gastrointestinal illnesses through close examination of representative photomicrographs.
- ✓ Correlate typical radiology and pathology findings with endoscopic images reflective of both the normal and abnormal physiology and pathophysiology.

Three-Day CLINICAL REVIEW

Your Comprehensive Clinical Update
Friday–Sunday | October 5–7, 2018

If you are looking for a comprehensive clinical review and don't want to spend too much time away from the office, attend ACG's Three-Day Clinical Review. The Three-Day Clinical Review includes the GI Pathology and Imaging Course and the What's New in GI Pharmacology Course on Friday, plus the popular weekend Postgraduate Course. Leading experts in the subspecialties will delve deeper into topics of interest to you and address the common and not-so-common GI disorders you encounter in practice.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 2018

(DAY 1 - MORNING)

GI Pathology and Imaging Course | Terrace Ballroom 2-3

ACG's Pathology and Imaging in the Evaluation of Gastrointestinal Disease Course includes four mini-sessions, each devoted to new developments and old problems of special interest to the clinical gastroenterologist in pathology and imaging in a specific portion of the GI tract. A popular biennial offering of the College, this year's course expands the mini-session concept to include a combination lecture by a pathologist and a radiologist with the addition of correlated endoscopic images.

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 2018

(DAY 1 - AFTERNOON)

What's New in GI Pharmacology Course | Terrace Ballroom 2-3

Attend the What's New in GI Pharmacology Course for an intensive review of key GI pharmacology topics, including comparisons and contrasts between conventional and emerging pharmacological treatment options.

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 6 - SUNDAY, OCTOBER 7, 2018

(DAYS 2 AND 3 - ALL DAY)

Postgraduate Course | Terrace Ballrooms

With the need to remain abreast of the many new and emerging advancements in the field of gastroenterology and the patient volume increasing as the population ages, the clinical gastroenterologist is challenged more than ever to deliver the best patient care. Research across gastroenterology and hepatology areas is progressing at a rapid pace. Advances in technology, diagnostic modalities, and therapeutic options have had a positive impact on the management of many GI diseases. Scientific education, based on foundational knowledge and clinical skills, the communication of practical methods for treatment, and the ability to integrate the newest tools in diagnosis with the latest therapeutic/treatment options, are key necessities for the GI clinician to deliver top-quality patient care.

YOUR REGISTRATION INCLUDES

- ✓ Two-Day Postgraduate Course
- ✓ What's New in GI Pharmacology Course
- ✓ Pathology and Imaging in the Evaluation of Gastrointestinal Disease Course
- ✓ Self-Assessment Test PRINTED BOOK with 300 questions, plus comprehensive, annotated answers!
- ✓ Access to the slide sets for all presentations with the ACG Mobile app
- ✓ Up to 21.5 hours of CME credit and MOC points!
