ASGE ENDOSCOPY COURSE

An Endoscopist's GPS: Navigating Innovations and Evolving Guidelines

Friday, October 25, 2019 | 7:30 am – 4:30 pm | Stars at Night Ballroom - B4

Course Directors: Amrita Sethi, MD, FASGE and Tyler Stevens, MD, FASGE, FACP

COURSE DESCRIPTION

Join ASGE's esteemed faculty who will review and highlight a number of emerging diagnostic and therapeutic endoscopic techniques in the literature and their implications in clinical practice. Key discussions will begin with Barrett's surveillance and ablation, reviewing several societal guidelines that include a 2016 guideline from the American College of Gastroenterology (ACG), 2012 and 2018 guidelines from the American Society of Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE) and a 2011 guideline and 2016 expert review from the American Gastroenterological Association (AGA). Faculty will then discuss ESD versus EMR for polyps with EMR being the most commonly used technique for resection of large distal colorectal adenomas yet there are some important limitations. This will be compared to endoscopic submucosal dissection (ESD), which is more technically difficult, resulting in longer procedural time. However, ESD is promising due to the high en-bloc resection rates and the very low recurrence rates. Presentations will highlight long-term recurrence rates, healthcare resource utilization and costs along with perceived quality of life among patients. Additional topics will focus on duodenal cancer, specifically as this is the most common cause of death in familial adenomatous polyposis. This will be followed by a review of the revised Atlanta classification system and how this facilitates standardized reporting of clinical and imaging data as well as objective assessment of treatment, fostering effective communication among the clinical team.

Discussions will include clinical assessment and management of acute pancreatitis and clarification of appropriate terms for peripancreatic fluid collections, pancreatic and peripancreatic necrosis and their changes over time. And if you are looking for more topics, faculty will discuss emerging endoscopic diagnostics and therapeutics for pancreaticobiliary neoplasia. As pancreaticobiliary carcinomas require careful correlation of clinical presentation, gross pathology and histopathologic findings are needed to distinguish pancreatic neoplasms from each other and from extrapancreatic tumors. Our program is designed to engage the audience with faculty through audience response along with questions, answers and discussion. Attendees are encouraged to enjoy lunch with the speakers and engage in conversations about challenging cases and techniques.

PROGRAM OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this educational activity, attendees will be able to:

- ✓ Recognize current standards for diagnosing and reporting Barrett's esophagus
- ✓ Identify current and new techniques for detecting upper and lower GI neoplasia
- ✓ Describe techniques for management of pancreatic fluid collections arising in acute pancreatitis
- ✓ Recognize new approaches for treating biliary neoplasia
- ✓ Identify new endoscopic therapies for GI bleeding

ACCREDITATION / CME / MOC

The American Society for Gastrointestinal Endoscopy (ASGE) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

ASGE designates this live activity for a maximum of 7.5 AMA PRA Category 1 Credits™. Physicians should claim only credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

Successful completion of this CME activity, which includes participation in the evaluation component, enables the participant to earn up to 7.5 MOC points in the American Board of Internal Medicine's (ABIM) Maintenance of Certification (MOC) program. Participants will earn MOC points equivalent to the amount of CME credits claimed for the activity. It is the CME activity provider's responsibility to submit participant completion information to ACCME for the purpose of granting ABIM MOC credit.
